DEDICATION

George Fox has been the art teacher at Rowland Hall-St. Mark's School for 29 years. That's a lot of games of "Magic Owl," and now the time has come for us to thank the man who has brought us so much of life through his artwork. He is the one responsible for the elaborate scenery at our play productions and the one who has provided us with our "cafeteria art gallery." We have witnessed his capacity for art through displays of his personal work, as well as through the paintings, pictures, crafts, and designs of his students. Art is "the making or doing of things that have form and beauty," and life would be drab without it. We thank you, George Fox, for bringing your art into our lives.

HEADMASTER

A. Thomas Jackson (Williams College, B.A.; American University, M.A.) was appointed Headmaster in 1981. Previously he was the Headmaster of Loudoun Country Day School in Leesburg, Virginia, for eight years. He also served as Chairman of the English Department at Foxcroft School and has taught in California, Connecticut, New Hampshire, and Virginia.

Iron rusts from disuse, stagnant water loses its purity, and in cold weather becomes frozen: even so does inaction sap the vigors of the mind.

Guadeamus igitur
Iuvenes dum sumus
Let us live then and be glad
While young life is before us.

When I have fears that I may cease to be
Before my pen has gleaned my teeming brain,
Before high-piled books, in charact'ry,
Hold like rich garners the full-ripened grain;
When I behold, upon the night's starred face,
Huge cloudy symbols of a high romance,
And think that I may never live to trace
Their shadows, with the magic hand of chance;
And when I feel, fair creature of an hour,
That I shall never look upon thee more,
Never have relish in the faery power
Of unreflecting love!—then on the shore
Of the wide world I stand alone, and think
Till Love and Fame to nothingness do sink.

A dancer is a thing of fragile beauty and sinuous strength, designed to appear delicate while performing difficult work.

REAGAN

We've come a long way together, seniors. I fear that I've needed your help more than you mine. I thank you for being there for me. Wherever I go, I will never forget you, all of you, and I hope that you will not forget me.

We have all had the benefit of an education, far greater than some can hope to receive. Now it is time to start reaping its benefits. Whatever we do, whatever, it is within each and everyone of our grips to be the best. Let's all reach out and grab what we want and promise not to let go. We CAN and WILL have our dreams; they are within our grasp.

I will never forget Rowland Hall-St. Mark's; it is as much my home as any home I have had. I love the people I have met, students and teachers alike, as if they were my own family. I pray that you won't forget me.

Ski School Unique In Utah

Unusual Academy
Stresses Studies

By Larry Anderson
Times Staff Writer

A most unusual educational and sports instruction has been introduced in Utah — the Rowland Hall Academy.

The academy is the only one of its kind in Utah. In fact, there are only a handful in the entire West.

The idea of a ski academy for high school students was the brainchild of Dr. Earl Spahr, a parent of two sons, and Ole Larson, a ski coach. The two men met and discussed the idea with Rowland Hall-St. Mark's.

Rowland Hall-St. Mark's is a private school in Salt Lake City.

There are 11 students in the academy.

Activities

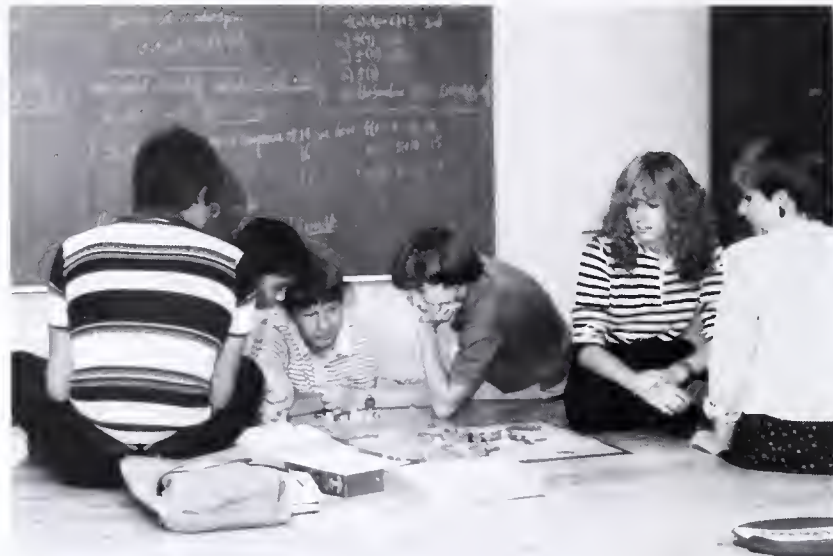

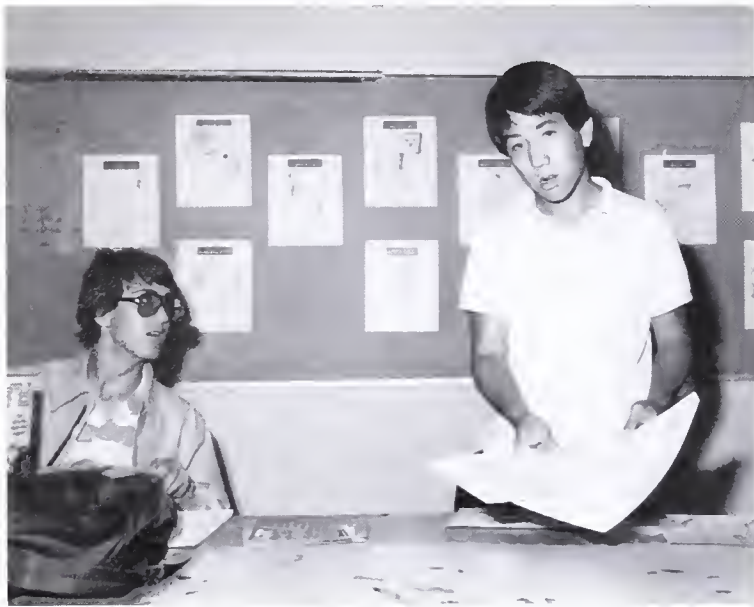

"D" block on Tuesdays and Thursdays was an activity block for U.S. students. Some of the choices were choir, student government, debate, photography, or ceramics. After two sessions, students picked a different activity such as literary magazine, war games, computer programming, or yearbook. Later in the year, two workshops — English and math — were offered to help students with their other classes, and a new "D" block class called chemical abuse, designed to educate students about the effects of drugs, became a requirement.

SIXTH GRADE PLAY

HALLOWEEN

The Rockinellers played at RHSM's Halloween dance on October 28th, and over 90% of the Upper School student body showed up. Mr. Jackson allowed the Student Council, which sponsored the dance, to announce that the class with the highest percentage in attendance would get a day off. Both seventh and twelfth grades had 100% attendance. Other Halloween activities included the annual costume parade of the Lower Schoolers and a spook alley run by the eleventh grade. The parade was highlighted by several E.T.'s, two pigs, and a washing machine, all of which rivaled the prize-winning bunch of grapes costume worn to the dance by Ms. Miklossy.

CANDLE AND CAROL

SEVENTH AND EIGHTH GRADE PICNIC

The first of Mr. Hall's and Mrs. Spurgeon's regular social gatherings for the seventh and eighth graders was held at Lindsey Gardens on Saturday, the 24th of September. Rowland Hall provided the food, as well as a handy map to the park, while parents, students, and teachers got together for frisbee, softball, and volleyball. A free-for-all soccer match was the final touch as the seventh and eighth grades "kicked off" the new school year.

Sports

Dedicated to physical activity, Monday, Wednesday, and Friday "D" block classes provided education and experience in sports from biking to aerobics to running to squash to karate. All 7th through 10th graders were required to take a "D" block class, but 11th and 12th graders could join if they wanted.

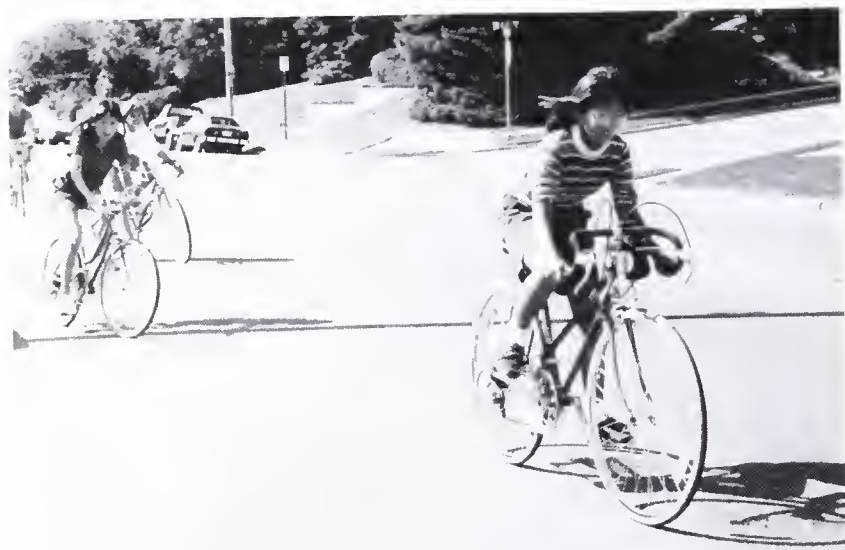

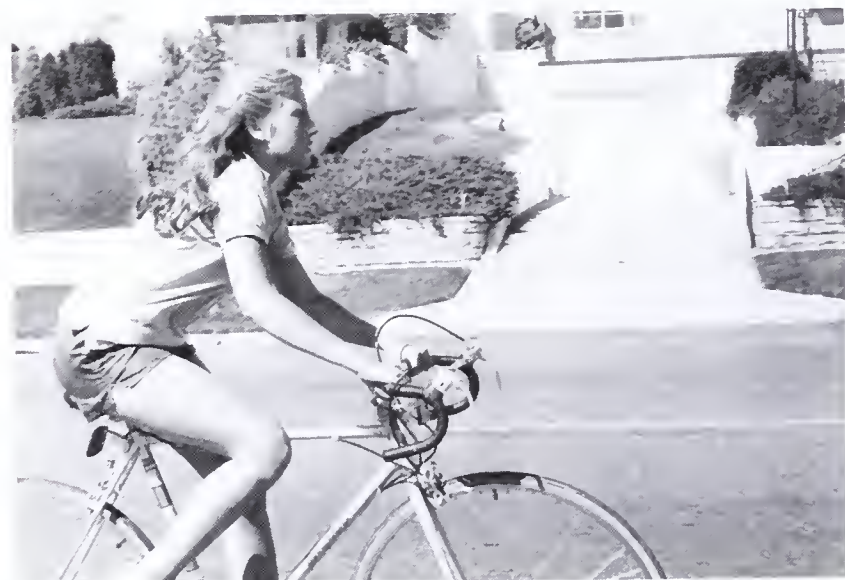

During January, February, and March, however, Friday "D" block classes were replaced by the Winter Sports Program. All other classes were shortened, so students and faculty could head for, among other places, the ski slopes, the swimming pools, the tennis courts, or the bowling alleys.

FACULTY/STUDENT FOOTBALL GAME

At Ensign Park on a Wednesday afternoon in October, the faculty flag football squad easily diminished their opponents, 20-6, due to the sorry condition of the student offense. Both teams held practices and scrimmages in order to prepare for the big game, but the students failed to come up with a decent game plan, and after an early touchdown, their offense broke down. Their defense was forced to take the field again and again and did well to hold the faculty to only 20 points; however, the student team as a whole could do little in the face of such an onslaught.

DEFINE "CREATIVE"

Webster defines it as "having the quality of something produced through imaginative skill, not imitated"

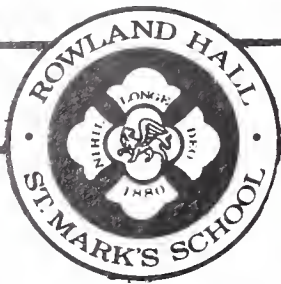

Now look at your advertising. Does it have a distinctive quality that emphasizes the individuality of your company, service or product? Or does it simply mimic current advertising trends?

At S. Thompson we believe that every company has its own identity, every product has its own benefits, every service has its own advantages. Our advertising campaigns emphasize these differences through an inimitable combination of imaginative marketing, concise copy and unique graphics. In addition, our creative staff works directly with our clients, so your message says what you want it to say . . . and says it in a way that produces results for you.

S. Thompson is not for the "me, too" advertiser.
